Campus Crusade for Christ International (Cru)

Global Opportunities

In Cru, our internships are designed to enable students and graduates who are committed to seeing Christ use them in mission. These experiences help young people and graduates get into the world of ministry with Cru as part of teams helping build spiritual movements in the US and internationally. These challenging opportunities will help set you on a lifetime of ministry, whether you continue on as a staff member with Cru or go on to live missionally in your chosen vocation. There are also internships designed to help you put your skills and training to work in support of many Cru initiatives.

ELIC

SE Asia

ELIC has a 6-week teaching program in two different provinces. Teams of about 8 from the U.S. will have the opportunity to come teach. Native teachers from the poorest provinces and districts will come to a central location where the ELIC Team will teach English and build relationships. Those interested in coming need to have a bachelor's degree. Those in high school or with some college credit may be able to partner/teach with a parent/teammate that already has a degree.

Foundation for Peace

Haiti; Dominican Republic

In-country needs change and interns respond to these needs, but generally interns help host American mission teams and support in-country staff. Sometimes they teach in local schools. DR interns live in the FFP house in Santo Domingo, and Haiti interns live in the FFP house in Croix des Bouquets.

Jews for Jesus

Israel

The Massah Project is a 10-week summer experience intended to mobilize young adults who are Jewish and believers in Jesus. We believe that being a follower of Jesus means a lifelong pursuit of how to live out the gospel, and that as we share, it continually changes us and not simply our hearers. The Massah Project seeks to serve in and build a community, to create innovative ways to share the gospel and to learn together, to the end that we live out our experience of the gospel with Israeli travelers and others that we meet.

MDN Connect

SE Asia

A summer intern would ideally be someone good at administrative support, organizing things, accounting, etc. Their experience here would have an emphasis on admin/organizing/accounting, while observing church planting methods in this urban setting.

Summer OFF is one of our largest, ongoing ministries. Think of Summer OFF as part outreach training, part VBS (outside, and a lot simpler) and part missions trip. It's designed to be run by Christian teens, to equip them for outreach and give them a big vision of God's kingdom work. And it's for adults too.
